

KANSAS HEALTH INSTITUTE

Health Reform Resource List - May 19, 2010

Numerous agencies and organizations are producing health reform information on a monthly, weekly, or even daily basis. The list below contains some of the most reliable and timely sites.

- The Kansas Insurance Department has created a health reform webpage with consumer information. <http://www.ksinsurance.org/consumers/healthreform/hcr.htm>
- The Kansas Health Policy Authority has also developed a health reform webpage containing important updates. <http://www.khpa.ks.gov/ppaca/default.htm>
- The federal government's health reform website includes links to state-specific health reform projections. <http://www.healthreform.gov/>
- The Congressional Budget Office has released cost estimates for the PPACA as recently as this month. <http://www.cbo.gov/publications/collections/health.cfm>
- The Kaiser Family Foundation maintains an updated summary of the reform bill among other products. <http://healthreform.kff.org/>
- The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) has developed a health reform webpage with comprehensive analyses. http://www.naic.org/index_health_reform_section.htm
- The National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) monitors the impacts of health reform, most critical to the states. <http://www.ncsl.org/default.aspx?tabid=17639>
- The Trust for America's Health website contains a host of links to health reform resources. <http://healthyamericans.org/health-reform/>
- The RAND COMPARE health reform webpage includes links to key official documents that describe reform implementation. <http://www.randcompare.org/proposals/health-care-reform-implementation>
- The American Public Health Association's health reform webpage highlights the public health issues most impacted by health reform. <http://www.apha.org/advocacy/healthiestnation/>