

What this measures:

Percent of households below the Asset Limited, Income Constrained, Employed (ALICE) Survival Budget threshold. The ALICE Household Survival Budget estimates the bare minimum cost of household essentials to live and work.

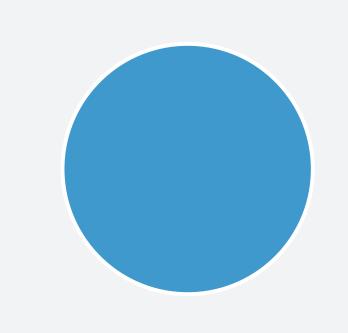

counties, at least 4 in 10 households earn less than the ALICE Survival Budget.

4 in 10 Kansas households earn less than the ALICE Survival Budget threshold and can't afford basic needs, such as food, housing and health care. ALICE families may work full-time, earning above the federal poverty level, yet struggle to earn enough income to meet the demands of the current cost of living.
